French Cabinet Change Is Termed Sign Of Progress

MANCHESTER, March 23.—In an editorial on the changes in the French cabinet the Manchester Guardian today interpreted it as a sign of progress in the war, and added that "France had done what sooner or later we will have to do."

Dramatic Campaign Speech

Sir William Mulock Calls for Support for Mackenzie King

Victims of a lifetime of service in Canadian public life and on the high court bench of Ontario, Sir William Mulock, former chief justice of Ontario and known across the Dominion as "Ontario's Grand Old Man," now 86 years of age, made a dramatic five-minute campaign speech in Toronto in which he summarized the issues now facing the electors of Canada and called for united support for the Mackenzie King government.

His remarks were as follows:

SELECTED
Social Credit 17
Independents 11

LEADING
Social Credit in 38 constituencies.
Independents in 8 constituencies.
Labor in one constituency.

There are 57 seats being contested. Continued snow making traffic slow militated against quick returns.

Final standing of candidates is not expected for several days yet, as all ballot boxes must be returned before officers' headquarters before the final count is made.

Independent and Social Credit candidates are running a close race.

The Social Credit forces have looked over 17 seats and have a lead in 20 others, while Independents are in 11 and are leading in eight.

Premier William Aberhart's cabinet has remained intact with the exception of Hon. Selwyn S. Lewis, provincial treasurer, who was defeated in his constituency of Warner.

Sir William Mulock Calls for Support for Mackenzie King

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

TORONTO, March 23.—With the federal election campaign going into its closing stages today, the people of Toronto are still speaking of the unlooked for platform appearance during the campaign of Rt. Hon. Sir William Mulock, Ontario's Grand Old Man, former member of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet, and now 86 years of age.

As the former chief justice of Ontario walked to the microphone after appearing unaided, he spoke only for five minutes, but his words were heard by a large audience which followed him to the audience with breathless concentration. Calmly, judiciously and in perfect court-room manner he delivered what experts have called "the most effective campaign speech ever heard in Toronto."

Sir William said: "You, the people, are the jury. You have listened to the arguments on both sides. It is my job, as a judge of 25 years experience, to sum up the country is at war. You are committed to the most desperate struggle the world has known. Never has it been so important for you to choose wisely who shall control your destinies during the terrible days that are ahead. On one hand you have a government which has demonstrated its capacity to bring the nation into war, to organize your manpower and resources for war; to measure up to the responsibilities of the time. On the other hand you have a man who has been a cabinet minister, but never the head of a government, whose record as an administrator and a statesman is not outstanding. This man says that if you elect him, into whose hands the election occupied some attention on Saturday and two of them were given a chance on Saturday of winning seats.

These women, both Social Credit candidates are Mrs. E. E. Wood, who headed the Stoney Plain constituency poll in the first count, and Mrs. Edith Rogers, Social Credit, Ponoka. Edith Rogers was elected on the first count for that constituency in the last house. Mrs. Rogers was in second place in the first count.

Social Credit Has 17, Independents 11 Seats So Far

Final standing of parties in the ninth legislature of Alberta hung in the balance Saturday as returns from the far-flung constituencies and widely-separated polling subdivisions filtered through slowly, but the feeling was growing that the Social Credit government would be returned, although with a greatly reduced majority. However, some observers felt they would have at least 35 seats when final counts are completed.

Present standing of parties is as follows:

SELECTED
Social Credit 17
Independents 11

LEADING
Social Credit in 38 constituencies.
Independents in 8 constituencies.
Labor in one constituency.

There are 57 seats being contested. Continued snow making traffic slow militated against quick returns.

Final standing of candidates is not expected for several days yet, as all ballot boxes must be returned before officers' headquarters before the final count is made.

Independent and Social Credit candidates are running a close race.

The Social Credit forces have looked over 17 seats and have a lead in 20 others, while Independents are in 11 and are leading in eight.

Premier William Aberhart's cabinet has remained intact with the exception of Hon. Selwyn S. Lewis, provincial treasurer, who was defeated in his constituency of Warner.

IS STILL DOUBTFUL

In the results as given above there are 20 seats still doubtful. Of the seats heard from 19 remain unchanged, while Independent candidates have gained eight seats from Social Credit.

Hon. Eustace Maynard, K.C., minister of municipal affairs, won an easy victory in Beaver River, where, with three polls to hear from, he was elected with a majority over 100.

The results to date insure a large number of new faces in the ninth legislature, which has been elected but composition of which is not yet known.

On the other hand familiar faces will be missing.

W. R. King, Social Credit member for Cochrane in the last legislature, which has been elected but composition of which is not yet known.

SURPRISE DEFEAT

The surprise of the day was that of W. F. Fleming, Social Credit, Cypress, who sat in the last house. Even position forecasts had conceded Mr. Fleming's election prior to the vote being taken.

In Didsbury the defeat of E. P. Foster, Social Credit, also came as a surprise as he was reckoned one of the "safe" members. Mr. Foster was a vigorous debater and was chairman of the legislative public accounts committee.

The women candidates in the election occupied some attention on Saturday and two of them were given a chance on Saturday of winning seats.

These women, both Social Credit candidates are Mrs. E. E. Wood, who headed the Stoney Plain constituency poll in the first count, and Mrs. Edith Rogers, Social Credit, Ponoka. Edith Rogers was elected on the first count for that constituency in the last house. Mrs. Rogers was in second place in the first count.

FIVE OTHERS DEFEATED

Five other women candidates were defeated in detail.

They were Mrs. Russell Johnston, C.C.F., candidate in Assiniboia; Mrs. Roy Peterson, C.C.F., candidate in Regina; Mrs. Edith H. Goss, K.C., candidate in Calgary; Mrs. Lillian H. Goss, K.C., candidate in Calgary; Mrs. Lillian H. Goss, K.C., candidate in Calgary.

With all but four of the 81 postal counts in Stoney Plain, Mr. Wood's margin in the Alberta political field, but well known in school board matters in his district for nearest opponent by 544 votes. Her election remained in doubt, because two other candidates must be eliminated and their second choice in the single transferable ballot, distributed before either she or her opponent gave a clear majority.

The second choice who held the key to Mrs. Rogers' hope of returning to the legislature was Mrs. Edith Rogers, who was elected on the first count by a majority of 1,416.

Both Ponoka and Lac Ste. Anne constituencies extend to the western boundary of Alberta. All the ballot boxes must be brought in to the central counting offices of the riding for an extended check under the second count give order was

Aberhart Issues Statement In Calgary On Provincial Election

CALGARY, March 23.—"I would like to say that I am very much pleased with the results of the provincial election as far as I know them at the present time," Premier William Aberhart declared in a statement today.

"They seem to be improving as time goes on and the counting is being completed. For the past 17 years the Social Credit movement has faced a steady bombardment by the agents of high finance. There has been no equality today in what it is to call a caucus today the least gratification to know that our supporters have steadfastly stood by their convictions, and have delivered themselves once again to the service of the people, and though all the other parties joined hands against them."

"It would seem to me that when the total vote is counted, the number of those voting for Social Credit will be equal to the equal of one vote in 1935. But even if it is not, the case is easily understood any definition that may have taken place under the banner of false propaganda and the representation, which continued during a whole line of office, even up to the day of election."

"From the bottom of my heart, I want to thank all those who worked so faithfully, and who gave so freely their confidence and excellent support, which resulted in my personal election on the first count, as well as that of many of my colleagues."

"By the return thus far received, it would appear that the Social Credit government will once more be called upon to supply good, honest administration, and at the same time to make careful preparation for the difficult times of the future."

"I fully recognize the responsibility that this will place upon our shoulders, but we shall put our trust in the God, benefactor and savior of Christians of God, and all will be well."

"I sincerely hope for and desire the cooperation and support of every citizen of this province, whether you voted for me or not, in the interests of each and all of our people should have no order and steadfast government, under the welfare of the people under its jurisdiction."

"Once again I thank you all most heartily for all you have done and do in the future to make our Alberta a little better."

Edmonton's Opportunity

Residents of Edmonton have an interest at stake in this federal election other than the common interest they share with people in all parts of Canada, since it is on the program that one of themselves, a well-known, highly respected and long-time resident of the city, is to be made a full-time member of the Dominion cabinet in charge of a portfolio. This is something they may with every propriety take into account, because the gentleman in question is well qualified to hold such a post; he is a man of public life, his name is known to all citizens, and he has been a full-time member of the province for five years ago when every other Liberal candidate in the province went down to defeat.

There is no city in Canada whose residents would not welcome the distinction that would come to it as the home town of a minister administering one of the departments of the Dominion Government. Edmonton voters have the opportunity to put the city again on the map as one of the few places in the Dominion which can enjoy this distinction.

But the prestige this city will thereby gain is not the only consideration. It is a part of the city's differing resources, and therefore in possibilities of development, from the other prairie provinces. And Edmonton is the gateway to the great north country whose resources are more varied and development needs are greater than those of any other section of the Dominion.

It is of very practical concern to Edmonton and Alberta that there should be in the cabinet council at Ottawa some one who understands these facts and who can be relied upon to energetically urge the adoption of policies which will assist and encourage the resources of this section of the Dominion. Mr. MacKinnon is precisely that type of man, and West Edmonton voters would be singularly lacking in foresight if they should fail to elect him by a majority that would be impressive to his colleagues, to parliament, and to the country at large.

East Edmonton voters would be correspondingly wanting in judgment if they should fail to elect his running mate, Mr. Casselman, also by a majority so decisive as to make clear that Edmonton people are a unit in wanting the adoption and aggressive application of policies of this type. Mr. MacKinnon will need Mr. Casselman's support if he is to exert the maximum influence in the Government and in parliament on behalf of measures which will make for the development and progress of Alberta, the northland, and therefore of this city.

Edmonton would arouse wonder all over Canada if it did not in the present circumstances elect these two men by thumping majorities.

Alberta Must Speak

The accusation has been made, not once but a thousand times in the last five years, that the people of Alberta were developing separatist tendencies; that we were Albertans to the point of being something less than whole-hearted Canadians; that we exalted the local interests and the authority of the province as against those of the Dominion; that if we were not already in a technical state of rebellion we were headed in that direction.

The best way Alberta's people can meet and dispose of that charge is to send to parliament on Tuesday next a strong delegation of men pledged to support the Government which ranged Canada alongside Britain and France in the life and death struggle for national liberty. That will stop the mouths of detractors and give us no room for misunderstanding as to where our hearts are when the Dominion is in danger. Against such evidence there could be no further challenge to our Canadianism.

Alberta cannot afford to give an impression that its people regard the war as only a side-line; that we are more interested in financial theories or economic policies than we are in the fate of the country; that while our fellow-Canadians are putting aside local and minor matters to focus attention upon the nation's war effort, we intend to divert attention from that effort by keeping up an agitation in parliament on an entirely different subject, an agitation which could only be kept up at the expense of creating disunity. To do this would put Alberta on the black-list all over Canada, and confirm the charge of aloofness already made against its people to their direct and indirect injury. The issue in this election is the direction of Canada's war effort. The voters have been asked to say whether this effort is to be directed to the Government of Mr. King or by a Government to be formed by Dr. Manion. These are the only alternatives.

This question is "up to" those who live in Alberta as directly as to those who live in any other province. We have no right to side-step the question to give an answer. We cannot do so without losing the confidence and sympathy of our fellow countrymen and telling them that what has been said to the discredit of our Canadianism is true. The question can only be answered by electing supporters of Mr. King or Dr. Manion. To elect members representing any other party, group or faction is to dodge the issue—and incur the penalty of suspicion and dislike.

The question can be answered most effectively by electing supporters of the present Government, for the reason that it is cost-free to know, for any policy is known beyond any possibility of doubt. It is the Government which took the responsibility of putting Canada into the war, and it is certain to be given an emphatic declaration of approval from the people of the other provinces.

For its own sake, as well as because the Government is responsible to its hands, Alberta should send to Ottawa a strong contingent of Liberal members on Tuesday. That will silence our critics, restore our prestige, and make clear to all concerned—Hitler included—where Alberta stands on the war issue.

Central Bank Loans

The Bank of New Zealand has made a small loan to the Government of that Dominion, $4,500,000, without interest until six months after the close of the war. This is cost-free money to the Government. The Government is concerned, but not so far as the Bank and the public are concerned. The proportionate share of the cost of handling this item of business will be paid out of the revenue collected by the Bank from other customers and on other Government business.

Canada's central Bank is operated otherwise. When the Government borrows money from the Bank it pays interest on the loans. The Bank pays running expenses out of the revenue thus derived and from other operations, pays dividends at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent per annum to the Minister of Finance, who holds the capital stock in the name of the public, and then turns over to the Dominion treasury the balance also of the net earnings. Last year the Bank paid to the Government, as dividends and net profits, $1,317,483.

New Zealand's "free" loan will be made by the bank to be called the direct method. The Canadian method is not practical. If the Dominion did all their Government borrowing from their central Banks, the results to them, and to the taxpayers, would be the same. The New Zealand Bank would lend the year with a deficit which would have to be met by a vote of money by parliament. This is no practical possibility of the Bank of Canada ending a year with a deficit. The more the Government borrows from it, the more revenue the Bank collects, and the more money it hands back to the Government after paying its operating expenses.

Current Comment

Blood Money
Mr. Erick Wills, Conservative leader in Manitoba, has made it quite clear where he stands on wheat. He was blunt about it in his broadcast on Thursday night. He says the British should be ready to pay $1.25 for our wheat because we are sending tens of thousands of children to Europe and Europe is spending millions of dollars on our war effort.

Mr. Wills evidently believes that there is nothing like getting value for value given. We sent our children to Europe and they killed. In return we get $1.25 a bushel for wheat.

No doubt Mr. Wills considers this a good business deal. Most people think it is a deal beyond words—Winnipeg Free Press.

"N.Q."

There are many conservatives in western Canada, as elsewhere, with view with consternation the transformation of the stout old ship Conservative into a rickety craft flying a new flag upon which the non-royal colors "N.C." are emblazoned and carrying a motley and alarm crew. It is not surprising that their alarm and indignation at finding themselves leaderless, homeless, dispossessed, are beginning to find expression. The Financial Post notes that when an old blue Conservative in Ontario rings up what he thought was party headquarters, he is told over the wire by a nice, well-modulated voice that he has been put down in the "N.Q." How charming! And how fitting the epitaph on the information often invites—Winnipeg Free Press.

Canada Needs U. S. Dollars

Tourists from other countries spent a total of $2,000,000 in Canada during 1939, of which visitors from the United States accounted for $262 million. Of this sum of $262 million, no less than $165 million was spent by motorists. An analysis of the United States account in Canada from the United States during 1939 is included in the Monthly Letter of The Royal Bank of Canada for April, 1940. It shows that of these cars came from the state of New York and 21 per cent from Michigan. Sixteen states accounted for nearly 60 per cent of the total, and the remaining two-thirds of the states, together with the District of Columbia, for the balance of 4 per cent.

For desirability, indeed the necessity of increasing our supplies of United States dollars is paramount in view of the rapid rise which is expected in our imports of materials from the United States. The most obvious method to accomplish this is to stimulate the greatest possible increase in the number of tourists visiting Canada from the United States. But it seems that the measures taken to achieve this are not amount to very much more than those used in ordinary times. An extraordinary campaign is clearly necessary—extraordinary in scale and the technique employed.

Two factors in the present situation are strongly in Canada's favor: first, the obstacles to overseas travel, and secondly, the premium on United States dollars. The policy of war in Europe. It should be the policy of our authorities to exploit these advantages with the utmost vigour.

War necessities enhance the importance of our transactions with other countries. Expansion of industrial production in Canada, the Dominion's war effort has increased our requirements of raw materials from the United States. Since borrowing in the United States by belligerents is prohibited, unless our capital assets abroad, that this position was maintained in 1939. The Canadian balance of international payments in such a time of need is a serious problem. The Royal Bank of Canada, in its article of the Letter—Royal Bank of Canada.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

SACRIFICE
One of the old-fashioned Easter ceremonies in Jerusalem is that of "the sacred fire." From within the tomb enclosure of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher a high priest, dressed in white, thrusts through an aperture a torch, supposed to be miraculously lighted. The church and its environs are crowded with people, each holding a candle. Those nearest light their candles at the tomb, and from these others are given fire, until, in an incredibly short time, the entire church and its vicinity are ablaze with candles.

As a religious ceremony most of us take no stock in this spectacular performance; but as a parable it holds a message for everyone. Transmitted light, passed from one to another, is the light of Christian principle. Jesus said "Let your light so shine." Pass on the torch! Share your blessings! Your candle may be the only hope of light for a neighbor.

"One heart alight sets other hearts on fire."

May we never be of those who hide their spiritual light under a basket. That is our prayer to Thee, O great shiner and Light-bringer. Amen.

Read Matt. 5:13-16.

The provincial legislature adjourned to April 2nd, to allow the Government an opportunity to consider provisions of the railway agreement made between the Dominion and the province of Saskatchewan.

London: Pending a report from Tokyo regarding the tentative naval agreement worked out between the Japanese and United States delegations, the British and United States delegations will go ahead with the drafting of a conference pact. This is the assumption that no break occurs in the Franco-British partnership.

Ottawa: The Commons approved a resolution confirming the agreement to transfer to British Columbia lands in the railway belt and the Peace River block.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWDER

"Outdoors see all the fun," the old proverb says. Fate made me an observer from the sidelines while last Thursday's war among the politicians waged. No helpful post-mortem is possible at this stage, but some facts stick out like the proverbial sore thumb. Personal popularity still counts. That is what made Mr. Manning clear by the manner in BATTLE FIELD.

Abertari in Calgary, sky-rocketed above the rest—just as Mr. W. R. Howson did in Edmonton last. (The trend of Mayor "Andy" Davison above his running mates in Calgary is not cited, because his large No. 1 vote may be due to his last-minute advertised appeal to the Calgary voters to make him their No. 1 choice.)

Others, like myself, probably were surprised that the C.C.F. candidates scored no wins on the first count. Had I been a betting man, I'd have wagered that the C.C.F. would have had eight seats and held the balance of power between the two main factions. Only by the operation of the proportional method of balloting may they yet put in a man in Edmonton and/or Calgary. Their chief function has been to make necessary the counting of second choice votes in numerous county constituencies. The outcome of the contest, however, the province's political life in a manner in which C.C.F. supporters in the country divided their second choices.

There's a touch of irony—or poetic justice, according to how you view it—in the defeat of Mr. E. L. Gray, Liberal leader and Independent candidate in Bow River-Emmerson, who originated the "Unity" ticket, and the defeat of the appealing Liberal convention handed its IRONY—OR

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

"I have been told not to use too many of the acid-forming foods. Should I use oranges or other acid fruits, or should I leave them alone?"

A question taken from a letter on my desk which is typical of the confusion often found in regard to the acid-alkaline problem. The most confusion seems to center around the use of the acid fruits and their juices. A long time ago, when foods were classified as acid or alkaline, fruits were called acid fruits because of the natural fruit acids which are in them. However, when such fruits have been ripened to the point where the fruit acids have been broken down and are therefore, alkaline-forming foods.

As oranges, being in the acid fruit group, have this alkaline reaction, they are very properly to be used by a patient who has been told not to use too many of the acid-forming foods.

I can not impress upon you too strongly that you can not judge whether a food will belong in the acid or alkaline-forming group by the taste alone. A food which tastes sour and thus gives the impression of being "acid" may be an alkaline-forming food.

The lemon is one example of this. Some of our most acid-tasting foods, such as meat, eggs, bread, and so on, I believe are acid-forming. I believe that both the acid-forming and alkaline-forming foods are used. Most people feel better, work better and live better when the diet is made up of alkaline-forming foods than acid-forming.

Sometimes in special conditions of disease marked by a toxic state of the body, I find it more advantageous to place the patient on an alkaline-forming diet and from this time, and the patient may derive considerable benefit from a regimen. But this is only a temporary measure and eventually

EASTER SEASON AT MCDOUGALL

The Easter season will be celebrated at McDougall United church with special services and musical Easter offerings which the members of the congregation are planning to make over and above their regular gifts. This latter act will add much to the spirit of the services of this triumphant feast of the church.

The minister, Rev. A. K. McMillan, will be in charge at the morning service, and will preach on the subject, "The Power of His Resurrection," dealing with the real authority for the resurrection and the one valid proof of it as the greatest fact of history. The choir, under W. J. Henderson, will render Easter anthems and solo.

At the hour of the usual evening worship the stirring movie film "King of Kings" which was directed by Cecil B. DeMille and which has never ceased to appeal powerfully to the hearts of multitudes will be shown. The film depicts the drama of the Gospel as it gathers around the life of the Nazarene and rises into the climax of the resurrection and the ascension of Jesus Christ. It will be screened to sound accompaniment, and in a series of choral music and hymns which carry the Easter message.

CAST OF CHARACTERS:
ANN BROWN, orphan daughter of a banker, shown in an extremely Paul Hayden, stock room boy with a vision.
STEVE CLAYBURN, wealthy partner.
CLARA BROOKS, dine out considerer.
IRENE TEMPLE, society debutante.

YESTERDAY, ANNIE WATCH AND ANNIE ARE TALKING. TEMPLE SUSPECTS HER OF STEALING. THEN ANNIE SHOWS HER HANDS. TEMPLE'S WATCH REMAINS—TO BEAR TEMPLE. Mr. Temple questions Ann about her father, learns that Ann is the son of a brother, a girl.

CHAPTER XXVIII

MR. TEMPLE followed Ann to the door and put an affectionate arm about her. "This means a lot to me," he said. "You see, I love Pete." He laughed bleakly. "Did someone say it's a small world? It took two thieves and a suitcase full of jewels to bring Pete little girl home."

"There was a mat of tears in Ann's eyes as she said, 'I'm so happy to be a relative.' She smiled. 'Just the same, I'm pulling a heavy hold out of the king. It's my job and I love it.'"

"Do as you like, my dear. You're one of us. Call yourself Ann Temple, will you?"

"Better make it Uncle John."

"Uncle John—do you care if I fire the Plunkett outfit?"

"Care? he roared. "I'll help you kick 'em out."

"Call on me if you get stuck," Blake offered.

Ann got rid of the servants without too much difficulty. A few significant glances at the police would like to know of their needs, turned the trick. Ann prepared and served the dinner that Irene tried to help, unsuccessfully. The meat and potatoes, apples and cranberries and the positions, eliminating one of the maid. In a week's time the machinery of the household was moving without a hitch.

Irene returned to the room. "These are lovely," she said. "Are you glad they're not engraved. Your initials are different now." She was delighted over the turn of events.

Ann was equally pleased. "Isn't it wonderful, Irene?"

Steve was not at all impressed by the news. He merely said, "What's the first to notice a family resemblance?"

"Not, not quite the first," Ann told him.

"Maybe you'll go out with me now," he suggested. "As hired help you were a bit too uppity. How about the Adams and your formal?" It's coming off next week. I was planning to drag you there by the hair of your head."

"Is that so?"

Ann was not at all sure that she wanted to attend the Adams Club party. Since coming to the Temple house, the brutal feeling in her heart had lessened, though it was trying gallantly to put Paul Hayden from her mind and the party might bring all the old memories to life. Not that they showed any inclination to die, they lingered on, tormenting a and embittered. Why hadn't Paul loved her? How could he have left her so casually?

Irene leaned to press her cheek to Ann's. They both smiled into the mirror. "Go as far as you like with Steve," Irene said. "You need other possibilities. Maybe we can have a double wedding. It would be fun."

Ann felt that the conversation had been planned. And she suspected that Irene was more than mildly interested in Steve. However, the matter seemed to be because they had come to a decision not to be judged this way and that. He had a mind of his own and that mind had been definitely made up.

As the weeks passed, Ann had to admit that she was really and honestly happy. The Adams Club party had been just another evening nothing more. When she remembered the same event with Paul she wondered what had become of the staid and staid. She had everything for which she had longed, a family, social position, more clothes than she could wear, a sense of absolute security.

Recalling her old dreams, she laughed at them. Linen sheets, silk coverings, sterling silver and wedding china. Perhaps it was because she was too early that their importance had vanished. Perhaps the time of having lovely things was working for them, after all, being the budget.

One day in midsummer Irene gave a luncheon on the terrace. Ann observed the girls speculatively. They differed from her hands in Mrs. Follet's rooming house only in background and money. The types were identical.

There was Geneva Weston, a mysterious, evil, languorous girl with pale blond hair. She affected vague cigarette holders and moved with a slow grace. She had owned a family life and lived in her own apartment. The girls whispered that Mrs. Follet's rooming house only in background and money. The types were identical.

Today's Sport Parade . . .

By HENRY MCLEMORE
British United Press, Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

PETERSBURG, Fla., March 23—It wasn't until today that I realized there was a definite link between baseball and boxing. As recently as yesterday I would have clearly said I mean "volatility" in the case of 183 pounds and twin chin) denied there was any connection between, say, right field and a right ear.

But all of a sudden I found myself falling under a palm tree with Blue Berg of the Boston Red Sox, one of the better minor league outfielders in this country. And before we quit falling he had established a definite relationship between the two.

He bound them together with the expression "one-two punch." There never was a boxing champion who didn't have a one-two punch. Berg pointed out, and then continued to explain that the chief contention for the major league pennants this year would be made by teams with the same thing.

"Let's look at the American League," Berg said. "Hitting, pitching, the main contention will be between the Yankees and the Red Sox. Each of the clubs can throw a deadly one-two punch. On the Yankees the one-two is provided by Joe DiMaggio and Bill Dickey. DiMaggio sets up the opposition and Dickey knocks it out."

AND WHAT OF KELLER?
Remembering Conny Keller, I suggested that perhaps the Yankees would have a step further and develop a two-two-two punch.

"Please," Berg said, in a voice rich with melancholy, "let's limit this to just two hits. Now take the Red Sox. Our one-two punch is shown by Jimmy Foxx and Ted Williams. Perhaps I'm biased but to me those two fellows form the best one-two in baseball. I wouldn't swap them for anything in the league."

The one-two punch holds true in the National League. The champion Cincinnati Reds and their nearest challengers, the Cardinals, have the toughest bing-bang combinations in the Fredrick belt. The Reds can throw Frank McCormick and Ival Gooden at opposing pitchers. The Cards have Jimmy Mize and Gus Zernke, that is, if Fredrick says so.

AM, TO BE SURE: WHERE'S DUCKY?
And he is sure. Seeking of Ducky Wark, it will be he who will have to come to terms. Unpopular with the players (who think he has them) the general last year he was unpopular with Manager Branch Rickey who considered him impossible to get along with. Rickey was unpopular with owner Sam Breadin (who thinks he is being abused) and around a bit odd ball. Joe probably will have to capitulate or sit out the 1940 baseball season.

But to get back to the one-two punch. All of the combinations mentioned present a right-handed batter and a left-handed pitcher. That is the ideal combination. As Paul Derringer told me and Derringer is a fair country judge, it would be impossible to get a pitcher to hit up even a little bit. "Be the pitcher a right-hander or a left-hander," says Paul, "he must beat down with all he has on at least one of them."

But enough of the informative writing. The last thing you know I'll be explaining the technique of the drag butt, or why a good baseball runner lags around with his left foot when running out a triple.

Modern Puzzles

—BY GERALD L. KAUFMAN—

A newspaper headline writer went crazy one day and wrote captions for two of his columns:

1-RECORD MARKETS BEAT SALES HOME
2-TEAMS FORCED UNDER DECLINE TO HOPE

Luckily the copyreader caught these headlines in time. He was able to combine and rearrange them, using every word, to produce the following:

Can you do the same, writing the proper headlines in below?

PLANTS

MANKIND, AS WELL AS ALL OTHER LIFE ON THIS EARTH, IS COMPLETELY DEPENDENT ON PLANTS FOR EXISTENCE.

by WILLIAM KEEFE
T.M. REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

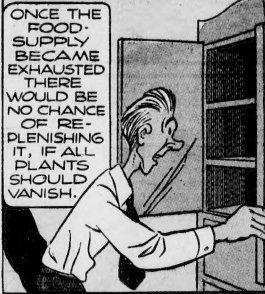

MAN COULD NOT EVEN BREATHE WITHOUT PLANTS! THEY TAKE WASTE GASES FROM THE ATMOSPHERE AND GIVE OFF GOOD, CLEAN OXYGEN FOR ALL LIVING ORGANISMS TO BREATHE.

WOOD IS SO IMPORTANT THAT NATIONS WHERE TREES ARE SCARCE SELDOM GO FAR IN ECONOMIC IMPORTANCE.

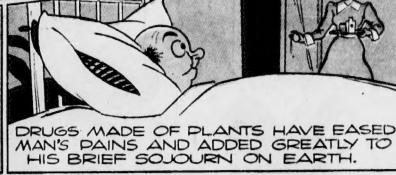

WITHOUT THE CLENCHING FINGERS OF PENETRATING PLANT ROOTS, DRENCHING RAINS WOULD WASH AWAY ALL SOIL INTO THE SEA.

ONCE THE FOOD SUPPLY BECAME EXHAUSTED THERE WOULD BE NO CHANCE OF REPLENISHING IT, IF ALL PLANTS SHOULD VANISH.

THE HEAT-FURNISHING COAL OF TODAY WAS FORMED FROM ANCIENT PLANTS THAT LIVED AND DIED IN PREHISTORIC SWAMPS, SUCH AS SHOWN HERE.

DRUGS MADE OF PLANTS HAVE EASED MAN'S PAINS AND ADDED GREATLY TO HIS BRIEF SOJOURN ON EARTH.

TAKE A LOOK AT THIS, WILL YOU! IN RECOGNITION OF MY MANY CIVIC ACTIVITIES I WAS MADE AN HONORARY POLICE CAPTAIN TODAY!

WHY, HENRY, THAT'S WONDERFUL!

AND, TAG, I'LL PAY YOU 10¢ A WEEK TO KEEP THE BADGE POLISHED FOR ME!

OH BOY! THAT'S SWEET! POP!

HENRY, I'M PROUD OF YOU!

WELL, IT ISN'T JUST EVERY MAN WHO GETS SUCH AN HONOR! HUMMM... THERE'S THE PHONE!

HELLO HENRY, A BANDIT ROBBED THE BANK AN HOUR AGO. WE THINK HE'S HIDING SOMEWHERE IN TOWN...

WE'RE CALLING ON EVERY MAN IN THE DEPARTMENT...

THIS FELLOW IS ARMED TO THE TEETH... LET'S GET HIM!

GULP

BUT, POP YOU PROMISED ME MONEY FOR POLISHING IT!

I KNOW, BUT WE'LL MAKE OTHER ARRANGEMENTS, TAG! YOU DO AS I ASKED YOU TO DO!

GEE, I WONDER WHY POP ASKED ME TO HIDE IT? WELL, THIS'LL BE A GOOD PLACE!

POP DOESN'T EVEN KNOW THAT BRICK IS LOOSE! HE'LL NEVER THINK TO LOOK THERE!

HELLO, CHIEF... YOU CAN COUNT ON ME! I'LL BE RIGHT DOWN AS SOON AS I FIND MY BADGE!!
